

Barney's Fair

By JUDITH PRIOR

Barney's Fair is set in an Old English Fair-Ground with bright and colourful stall holders who are the chorus to jovial singing. Barney, his wife Irene, daughter Cathy and his mother, Grannie are an Irish family living in the Fair-Ground of which Barney is the Fair-Ground Barker Manager. Helen Back is a Newspaper Reporter who appears to be continually in the Fair-Ground looking for titbits of news and clicking her camera at every opportunity. Paddy is a gullible Handy-man who gets himself into comical situations. Whilst Nellie the Belly Dancer provides a routine of much desire, Wan Hung Lo the Chinese herbalist, offers his remedies to a satisfied farmer and Madame Valda, a Gipsy Fortune Teller excels in her visions of the events unfolding. Lady Poncington-Jones, the Lady of the Manor, experiences some nasty mishaps during her visits to the Fair-Ground. Mortimer Stubbs, a Solicitor and the Landlord shows much contempt towards the Fair-Ground tenants who try everything to prevent the closure of the Fair-Ground in a finale of melodrama, music and mayhem.
